Cardinal Health Internship Undergraduate Students 2025

Description

The Cardinal Health Internship Program for Undergraduate Students is designed to provide hands-on experience and industry knowledge for students seeking careers in healthcare services, logistics, supply chain management, data analytics, finance, marketing, and related fields. As an intern, you will gain exposure to key aspects of Cardinal Health's operations, network with industry professionals, and work on real-world projects that impact patient care and healthcare solutions.

Responsibilities

- Collaborate on projects related to your field of study and Cardinal Health's operations.
- Assist in research, data collection, and analysis to support strategic decisions.
- Contribute to team meetings, offering insights and ideas.
- Develop presentations and reports that summarize findings and project progress.
- Participate in networking events and professional development sessions organized by Cardinal Health.
- Engage in cross-functional teamwork, partnering with various departments within Cardinal Health to gain a holistic view of the business.

Qualifications

- Enrolled as an undergraduate student in an accredited university program with a major related to the internship focus (e.g., Healthcare, Business, Logistics, Data Science, Marketing).
- Anticipated graduation date of 2026 or later.
- Minimum GPA requirement: [Specify if applicable].

Experience

- Previous internship or project experience is a plus, though not required.
- Demonstrated involvement in relevant extracurricular activities, clubs, or organizations is beneficial.
- Experience with research or data-driven projects is advantageous, especially for data analytics and finance positions.

Skills

- Strong analytical and problem-solving skills.
- Excellent written and verbal communication abilities.
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office Suite (Excel, PowerPoint, Word).
- Ability to work both independently and within a team environment.
- Time-management skills and attention to detail.
- Adaptability and a willingness to learn new tools and technologies as needed.
