Department Of Treasury Internship Latest Program 2025

Description

The Department of Treasury Internship Program provides undergraduate and graduate students with the opportunity to gain firsthand experience in the Treasury's key functions, including economic policy, public finance, tax policy, and international economics. Interns will engage in meaningful projects, support critical operations, and contribute to the Treasury's mission to promote economic prosperity and ensure financial security in the United States. This program is an exceptional opportunity for students interested in finance, economics, public policy, or government administration.

Responsibilities

- Support specific Treasury departments, including Economic Policy, Domestic Finance, Tax Policy, and International Affairs.
- Conduct research and analysis on economic data, policy issues, and current events impacting the U.S. economy.
- Assist in drafting reports, policy briefs, and presentations for senior Treasury officials.
- Collaborate with team members to prepare documentation and presentations for meetings and briefings.
- Participate in Treasury meetings, workshops, and training sessions.
- Contribute to projects focused on national and international economic issues.
- Network with professionals across various Treasury departments and gain insight into government operations.

Qualifications

- Currently enrolled in an accredited undergraduate or graduate program, ideally with a focus on Economics, Finance, Public Policy, Government, or a related field.
- Expected graduation date of 2025 or later.
- Authorized to work in the United States.

Experience

- Prior internship, volunteer experience, or coursework in finance, economics, public policy, or government is advantageous.
- Experience in research or data analysis is beneficial.
- Familiarity with U.S. economic policy or international economic issues is a plus.

Skills

- Strong analytical and critical-thinking abilities.
- Excellent communication and presentation skills.
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office Suite (Excel, Word, PowerPoint).
