National Trust Internship Graduate Placements 2025 Open Position

Description

National Trust is offering exciting Graduate Placements and Apprenticeship opportunities for 2025, aimed at individuals passionate about heritage conservation, environmental sustainability, and the preservation of cultural landmarks. The program provides recent graduates with hands-on experience and professional development, contributing to the mission of protecting and preserving the UK's natural and cultural heritage. Interns and apprentices will be mentored by experienced professionals and gain practical skills in various departments, including heritage management, conservation, operations, marketing, and more.

Responsibilities

- Assist with the care and conservation of historic properties, landscapes, and collections.
- Support heritage management teams in the day-to-day operations of National Trust sites.
- Participate in environmental conservation and sustainability initiatives, including biodiversity projects.
- Conduct research and provide recommendations on improving site management and visitor experiences.
- Assist in planning and delivering public engagement programs, educational events, and community outreach activities.
- Help with the preparation and delivery of marketing campaigns, including digital content creation and social media engagement.
- Contribute to administrative tasks, including report writing, data analysis, and maintaining records.
- Participate in site tours, learning sessions, and professional development workshops.
- Support the team in delivering projects aimed at increasing visitor engagement and awareness of the Trust's mission.

Qualifications

- Recent graduate (within the past 1-2 years) or equivalent with a degree in a relevant field (e.g., Heritage Management, Environmental Science, History, Conservation, Marketing, Museum Studies, etc.).
- A passion for heritage, conservation, and environmental sustainability.
- Ability to work in a diverse and dynamic environment.

Experience

- Previous experience or internships in a related field such as conservation, heritage management, or public engagement is desirable but not essential.
- Any volunteer work or projects related to environmental sustainability, history, or cultural preservation will be considered beneficial.
